

EBERHART IS TALKING TOO MUCH, COMPLAIN THE STATE OFFICERS

Meeting at Capitol Was to "Put Lid On" the Governor.

Acting Without Proper Regard to Effect on Republican Politics.

Appointments to Board of Regents Giving Him Much Anxiety.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—State politics and politicians have witnessed a most unusual proceeding in the capitol during the past week. Upon Governor Eberhart's return from Washington he was waited upon by his fellow Republican elective state officers and a conference lasting four hours was held. While it is claimed by friends of the state administration that the governor called the meeting for the purpose of telling his associates that President Taft is worried over the Minnesota situation, others, apparently well informed, declare that the views of the governor's office were responsible for the meeting, and that it was to put the lid on Eberhart. It was his declaration that the governor has been "making too much" and has made appointments and performed official acts without proper regard for their effect upon Republican politics in Minnesota.

Specifically, their complaints cover the appointment of a certain Northern lawyer as member of the state board of agriculture, a man opposed to the pork and timber policy of the state board, the recognition of the Sixth circuit in the appointment of an executive agent of the game and fish commission, and the appointment of a political boss of Congressmen Lindberg in the direction of an investigation of the railroad school for the blind without consulting the board specified in the law. Each day and proposed appointments to the board of regents at the state university.

Generally, he is accused of lack of discretion in his public utterances, and his self-selected advisers think it politic to withhold the dangers of indiscriminate public speaking.

Very Fine Point. Naturally, the conference has been the almost sole topic of discussion in political circles. Eberhart's personal friends are, however, responsible to the public for his conduct. They insist that he is not responsible for the appointments and that it was a political move on the part of the governor. On the other hand, it is understood that the state officers participating in the conference are not responsible for the appointments.

FIGHTING FOR CONTROL OF TELEPHONE COMPANY

Zenith Company Is Prize in Great Financial and Legal Battle.

Attempt of Tri-State People to Prevent Maine Meeting Cleverly Foiled.

While only an occasional echo is being heard, there is a merry fight in progress for the control of the Zenith Telephone company. Local men who put their money into the concern are fighting to get it back, or at least protect it, while the independent long distance interests, known as the Tri-State company, are trying to secure control of the local plant, oust the present manager, W. M. Hubbard, and install their own manager. The honors to date rest with the local men.

Some of the local men who are engaged in the fight have more than they can well afford to lose, invested, and they are fighting to the last ditch, determined to use any legitimate means of winning. The story of the battle, which has been in progress for at least two years past, would make a most interesting tale if it were all known. It is said, but there are only a few men in the city who are familiar with the facts, and they refuse to talk concerning them.

To explain the present situation, a brief history of the Zenith Telephone company's organization is necessary. The Zenith Telephone company is the company which owns the plant and equipment in Duluth. The People's Telephone company owns the Superior plant.

In addition to these two companies, there are two holding companies, the Lake Shore Telephone company, a Wisconsin corporation, and the Zenith City Telephone company, a Maine corporation. Just the exact relation these two companies hold to the other two, it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to determine. They (Continued on page 5, fifth column.)

MAN WHO STARTED "MEATLESS MENUS"

FRED W. SEBELIN
Of Cleveland, Ohio.

The national boycott against meat owes its origin to Fred W. Sebelin of Cleveland. He is foreman of a big factory there and he suggested in the lunch room that they give a practical demonstration of their power to right a wrong, by refusing to eat meat, so long as it was sold at an excessive price. The men and boys in the factory fell in line and the meat boycott was started.

Reduced Prices Fail to Liven Up New York Retail Trade.

"Gotham Meat Party" Working to Add to the Boycott.

New York, Jan. 29.—Market prices were down in local retail markets today, and dealers reported none too brisk a demand at the reduced rates. Even the restaurants were less liberal buyers.

Uptown districts were plagued with "eat no meat" injunctions in big type, and in Madison Square the "Gotham Meat Party," consisting of Bostonians of pre-revolutionary days when "tea parties" were popular, called a mass meeting in an effort to give added impetus to the anti-meat movement.

BUILDING BILL IS INTRODUCED

Miller Asks $595,000 for New Federal Building at Duluth.

Washington, Jan. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman Miller today introduced a bill providing an appropriation of $595,000 for additional ground and for the construction of a new public building at Duluth. The bill also provides for the purchase of three additional lots that will make an entire block available for the building. The balance will be for the building itself. It is by no means certain that a public buildings appropriation bill will be reported and passed during the present session of congress, but in the event a general bill comes in the Duluth items will be incorporated in it.

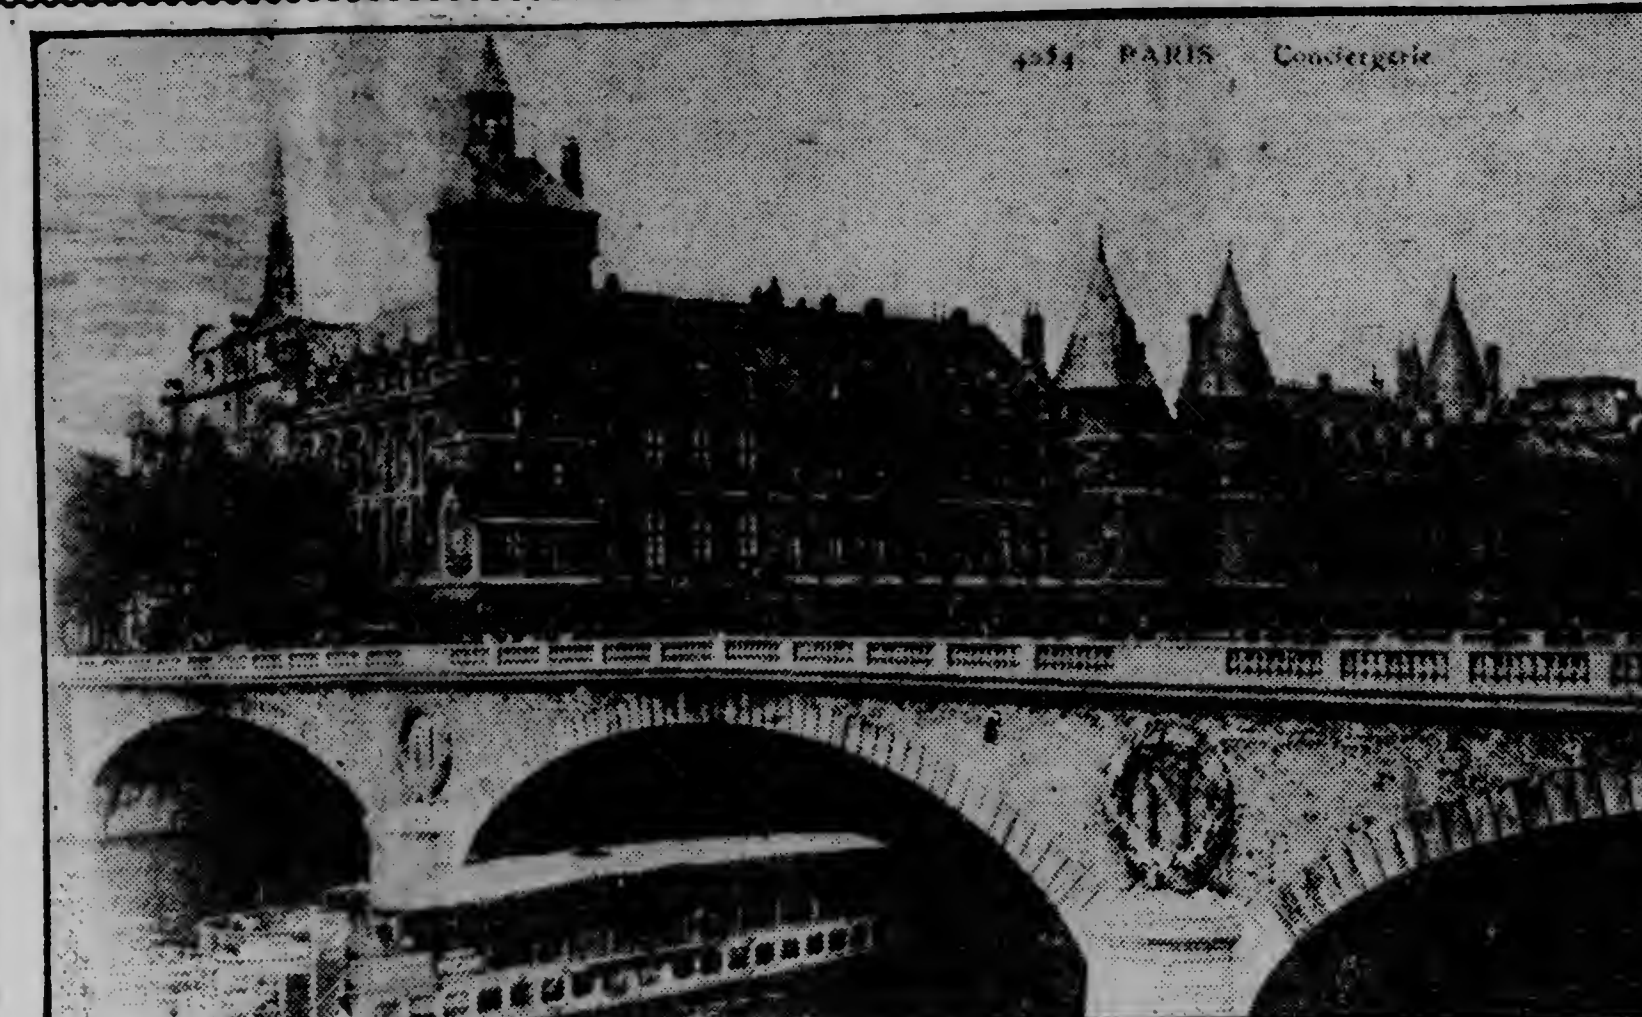

Mr. Miller also introduced a bill carrying an appropriation of $60,000 for purchase of a site and construction of a public building thereon at Anoka, Minn.

MINISTRY IS WEAKENED

Liberals in Parliament Must Depend on Votes of Other Parties.
Irish Members Will Hold Balance of Power in the House.

London, Jan. 29.—The general elections for members of the new parliament are at an end with the exception of seven constituencies, the returns from which can easily be forecasted. The tripartite coalition of Liberals, Laborites and Irish Nationalists find themselves in the majority, with an advantage of 122 seats.

The combination, however, includes ten O'Brienites and Seafordites, who are sworn opponents of the budget and of any trucking to either Saxon party.

From the viewpoint of the politicians, the chief practical result is the marked weakening of the position of the ministry, which at the time of the dissolution of the last parliament, commanded a clear majority of 58 over all other parties combined.

Young Lacemaker's Friends in Chicago Get Tidings of Marriage.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Ella Gingles, the young Irish lacemaker who caused a stir in Chicago at the time of her trial last summer on charges of stealing lace from her former employer, Agnes Barrett, following the sensational incident when she was found and gagged in a downtown hotel, has been married in Larnie, Ireland.

This announcement is made in a letter received in Chicago by friends of Mrs. G. Van Dusen Cooke, who was given charge of the girl upon the latter's acquittal. The card of announcement reads:

"Mrs. G. Van Dusen Cooke takes pleasure in announcing that her protégée, Ella Gingles, was married to William Drummond, both of Larnie, Ireland, on Jan. 22, 1910, at her home in Kilwaughter, Larnie."

OPEN WAR ON HOUSE RULES

Insurgent Move Is Likely to Result in Caucus of Republicans.

Dwight and Others Ask Taft to Help Check Revolt in Party.

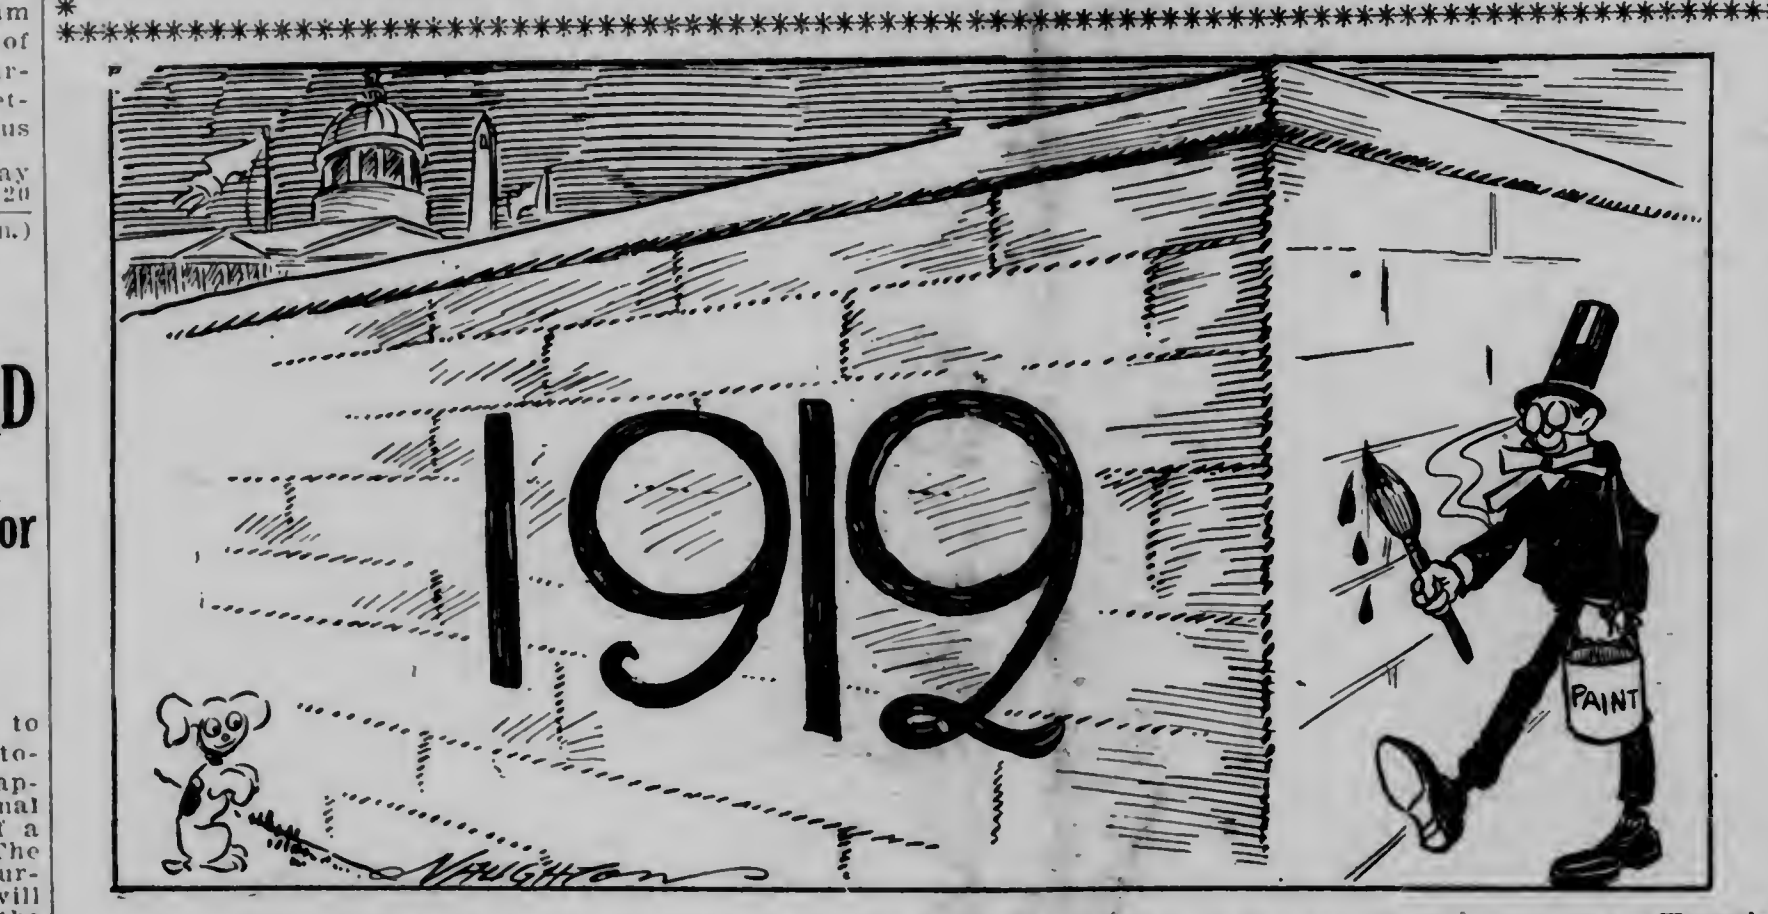

Washington, Jan. 29.—The question of revising the rules of the house of representatives, and more particularly enlarging the rules committee, of which Speaker Cannon is chairman, is receiving consideration on the Republican side of that body. There is a report in general circulation that a Republican caucus will be called within a week or so to take action on the matter.

The introduction of the resolution of Representative Fowler, proposing to enlarge the rules committee and remove the speaker as a member of that committee, is the subject of much discussion and is being used to determine the sentiment of members. A prominent insurgent who declined to allow the use of his name expresses the opinion that a caucus for next week is assured.

Appeal to Taft.
Representative Dwight of New York, Republican whip of the house, Representative Dabell of Pennsylvania and Houtell of Illinois called at the White House yesterday to see what assistance the president would lend in stemming the tide of insurrection.

The regulars want the president's help badly, but Mr. Taft is reluctant to become involved in the faction strife. He made it clear that his main purpose was to secure the enactment of certain legislation to which the Republican party was pledged, and, of course, willing to do what he could to harmonize the elements in the party when limit of action was reached upon any of these measures.

whether little or much water is consumed. It can therefore readily be seen that whatever water is sold over and above the amount necessary to pay these fixed charges, is sold at a profit. The actual cost of pumping 1,000 gallons of water in Duluth is about 1 cent.

The profit on the consumption over and above the amount necessary to maintain the fixed charges, is therefore desirable to increase the consumption as much as possible, and to a certain amount no discrimination is practiced. All any consumer has to do to get the benefit of the reduced rate above the minimum is to pay for this consumption to a point beyond that minimum.

The Smith circular, it is charged, that the department is selling water at less than cost. Such is not the case. The profits to the department from the business of the largest consumers is very substantial, and very desirable in order to make the department a success.

This board has taken the business for one month, and finds that the consumers of water and finds that they pay 10 cents per 1,000 gallons on an average. To lose any considerable portion of this business would be a heavy loss to the department.

WRITES ABOUT THE SYSTEM OF BANKING IN CANADA

R. M. Breckenridge's Monograph Is Issued By the Monetary Commission.

Contrasts Between American and Dominion Methods Are Made Clear.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The first of the important series of financial monographs resulting from the exhaustive investigations pursued in this country and abroad under the auspices of the national monetary commission has just been issued. It is titled "The History of Banking in Canada," by Rosell M. Breckenridge, whose work on that subject, published some twenty years ago, has long been recognized as authoritative.

This monograph gains importance from the fact that the Canadian banking system, with its highly developed organization of branch banking, its large freedom of note issue, and its circulation-redemption fund, has for many years attracted attention in this country. Some students of our banking problems have advocated the adoption of similar arrangements in the United States, and the national monetary commission has consequently made a comprehensive investigation of the history and actual operations of banking in Canada.

The problems of banking there are not as complicated as they are with us, and the investigation of the Canadian banking system has been a valuable contribution to the study of the history and actual operations of banking in Canada.

The separate provinces have no jurisdiction over these subjects, and there is, therefore, only one legislative body in the Dominion authorized to deal with banking questions, and there is only one type of commercial bank. banks doing business in Canada. In a number of cases, provisions were made for banks doing business under royal charters and for a few others under particular conditions made the general act inapplicable.

Mr. Breckenridge shows that the Canadian system is in many respects similar to the Scotch banking system, and is primarily and fundamentally a branch banking system.

There are today, it appears, only twenty-nine banks in Canada, and thirteen of that number have their head offices in Toronto and Montreal, their branches, numbering more than 2,400, being distributed from the Atlantic to the Pacific, into the Yukon country, and even into foreign countries. Of the parent banks, however, there are not more than three with head offices west of Ontario.

MENU CARDS UNCHANGED

Meat Prices in Cafes and Hotels Remain the Same.

If the statements of hotel and restaurant men in this city are correct, the agitation against the eating of meat has had little effect upon the consumption in the hotels and cafes. Inquiry was made today at the Spaulding, Lenox and St. Louis, as well as many of the restaurants of the first and second class. In one of the restaurants of the second class, the manager stated that there was a slight decrease in the price of meat. At the Spaulding, Lenox and St. Louis, the more expensive cuts of meat are purchased from wholesale dealers. There has been no decrease in the price of meat to the hotel men. The managers of the three hotels said that there has been no noticeable decrease in the ordering of meat by patrons.

At the Lenox and St. Louis, both American and European dining rooms are operated. The Spaulding is European only. The managers said that no falling off in the use of meat has been noticed. Any decrease in the cheaper cuts of meat in this city has not made itself apparent in the price lists of the second-class restaurants. Only one restaurant on the Bowery could be found where the manager would say that some of the prices on meat orders had been lowered.

What effect the local boycott on meat will have, managers of hotels do not attempt to say. They do not think meat prices on menu cards will be lowered. However, they will be prepared to reduce prices if wholesale quotations warrant.

In other cities the prices of meat in some of the restaurants have been slightly decreased. The size of the orders has been affected, where the boycott has had any influence.

The history of the Merritt Memorial church is very interesting. Rev. Mr. Peepes was the first pastor, coming here in 1856, when Duluth was a frontier village and Oneota one of the principal settlements. The first church in Duluth was during that year.

In those days church work was confined to a few frontiersmen and the meetings were held in the village schoolhouse. When a new congregation was organized, the church continued to use this for a church until 1893, when the Oneota Methodist Episcopal church was erected.

The building of the old school house was put in the belfry of the new church. This building marked the demands of the congregation until 1893, during the pastorate of the late Rev. F. E. Merritt, who was the first pastor of the church.

Shortly after the death of the Rev. F. E. Merritt, who was the first pastor of the church between 1893 and 1895, the name was changed from the Oneota M. E. church to the Rev. F. E. Merritt Memorial M. E. church. When the new building was erected, the name was transferred again.

The Merritt Memorial congregation has clear claim to being the pioneer church of the city, despite the fact that the Second Baptist church, which established a church about the same time, is located in the city.

ago the congregation moved to the present building at the West End. Since that time, the church has been a center of religious life in the city. Through some fortunate, they have been able to know the combination. The church officials are now endeavoring to secure the original records of the early work of the church may be located.

When Rev. Mr. Peepes, the first pastor, organized a handful of people into the first church here, the organization being the first of its kind in the city. Later when the city developed and other Methodist churches were founded, the Merritt Memorial church was one of the first to be organized. It included all of the Methodist churches in the city.

In preparing the program for the half-century anniversary celebration, and with the officials and the pastor, Rev. F. E. Stid, will make the initial plans for the big affair. In connection with the anniversary, the celebration of the church will be held.

In the belfry of the Merritt Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street, hangs the bell which was used in the pioneer church of Duluth, fifty-four years ago.

THE POLICE COURT GRIST
John Williams was arrested in Superior yesterday afternoon by Detective Govey from headquarters and Detective Mead of Superior just before he was about to leave for Paul. He had been "tipped off" that the police were looking for him, but was not quick enough to make getaway.

Williams, it is claimed, stole $25 and ran away from Martin McLean at 439 Lake avenue south. He took a new suit of clothes and a new overcoat belonging to Charles Smith which were hanging in one of the other rooms.

The same night he went to the Lincoln hotel after he had taken half a dozen friends to see the show. He was arrested in police court yesterday for grand larceny he confessed his guilt. He was bound over to the grand jury in $1,000 bail.

Building Will Be Free of Debt When Celebration Takes Place.

In the belfry of the Merritt Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street, hangs the bell which was used in the pioneer church of Duluth, fifty-four years ago.

Plans are now being made by the Merritt Memorial congregation for the semi-centennial celebration of the founding of the church, which will be held on the 29th of April.

The preliminary preparations for the affair will be made Tuesday evening, when the official board of the church will meet, appoint several committees and select a program for the celebration.

This will be the first time that the pioneer church of the city has celebrated its founding, and the affair will be of considerable importance, and will be observed with a lengthy program. It is thought that it will be held some time in the latter

SALT LAKE OR FRISCO?

Statements of Two Fight Promoters Are Flatly Contradictory.

Rickard Claims to Still Have Hope of the Utah Arena.

Ely, Nev., Jan. 29.—When asked what assurance he had that the Jeffries-Johnson fight would be permitted in Salt Lake City, in spite of the statement of Governor Spry to the contrary, Tex Rickard said yesterday: "I have the positive assurance of business men, many of whom are close to the governor, that a 45-round boxing contest can be held in Salt Lake City, and they have urged me to go on with my arrangements. The Utah law allows boxing contests, and it will be noted that the governor has declared only that he will not permit a prize fight."

"I am determined to keep the fight away from San Francisco, because of the action of Johnny Hergel, who, as chairman of the police committee of the board of supervisors, tried to 'hang me over' on me when he thought I had been shut out of Utah. In view of the attitude of the chairman of the police committee, I am determined to keep the fight out of California if it is in my power to do so. You can say positively that Salt Lake City can handle the fight, and that it will go through."

Portland, Or., Jan. 29.—"Wherever I will be, it does not make any difference what statements are given by whom, or whether the place is Salt Lake City or San Francisco, or somewhere else, I will be on hand."

This was the statement made by James J. Jeffries yesterday regarding his coming fight with Jack Johnson. Jeffries said he had no explanation for the various statements given out by Jack Johnson and Tex Rickard. He declared there was no difference between the two promoters.

Asked where he thought the fight would be held, Jeffries said: "Governor Spry of Utah has declared he would not permit the fight to occur within that state under any circumstances. It is the fair opinion that it will not be held in Salt Lake City. However, as I know as much about the matter as I can, I can draw my own conclusions."

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 29.—"I have secured an arena in San Francisco for the Jeffries-Johnson fight will be held here."

This is the statement made late today by Jack Johnson.

"I am not responsible for the attitude of Governor Spry," he added, "and I applied to him for a permit to cause the fight to be held in my native town. I have been offered any number of places, but I have selected this city as locations for my fight arena and the refusal of the committee to grant a permit will not interfere with my plans."

"I propose to live up to my agreement and Rickard is perfectly welcome to join me. But if he cannot obtain his present attitude I will take over the contract and hold the fight without his assistance. I am going to Portland Sunday to meet Jeffries and after conferring with him I will get into touch with Johnson with the object of definitely settling the question."

"DON'T ROAST THE COMMITTEE"

Lynch Asks Forbearance Until Schedule Is Made Public.

New York, Jan. 29.—President Thomas J. Lynch of the National League, whose first request after election was to ask the baseball writers not to roast the umpires, but instead to call his attention to any mistakes, issued today an official statement asking club owners to refrain from criticizing the schedule committee until its work should be laid before them at their annual meeting. Incidentally, President Lynch regrets that President Charles W. Murphy of the Chicago Nationals has seen fit, it is correctly quoted, to criticize the new rules now in process of adoption by the joint rules committee. President Lynch says: "If Murphy was correctly quoted, I wish to state that he is expressing only the views of one club in our league. He does not speak for the National League. The private interests of no league and no club were considered at the Pittsburgh meeting. The definition of the committee and the gentlemen of the press who were present, were most thorough and painstaking, and had only the best interests of the game at large in mind. I do not expect the common courtesy of the club owners until they have something officially placed before them."

"The same views go for the schedule committee. After a long day of work, the National League's representatives finished both a 1910 and 1911 game schedule. The American League delegates, although committed to a 154-game schedule, were fair to give up two days' time to assist us in framing our 165-game schedule. Our committee was therefore enabled to comply with instructions given it by the National League."

"Both long and short schedules will be ready for consideration by the National League by its February meeting. Neither one of these schedules is common property, and therefore criticism of the committee's labors is out of order until the schedule is made public as a body to select the schedule it considers most feasible."

NEW COACH FOR OARSMEN

Effort Will Be Made to Secure Ten Eyck to Instruct Crew.

Boat Club Class at Y. M. C. A. —Crew May Go to Madison.

Immediate steps will be taken toward the securing of a professional coach for the Duluth Boat Club crews.

This step was decided upon at a meeting yesterday afternoon of Julius H. Barnes, president of the Duluth Boat Club; Daniel Mahoney, captain of the club; and several members of the senior and junior crews.

Other important steps were also decided upon at the meeting. A class for oarsmen will be immediately organized at the Y. M. C. A., and will start its work Monday afternoon at 6 o'clock. All candidates for the crew and men who have any intention of coming out for the crew, are heartily urged to join the class.

Mr. Barnes has completed arrangements with the Y. M. C. A. by which a ten-day free gymnasium ticket will be issued to all candidates for the crew. This step was decided upon at the meeting. It is desired to give Duluth a very good coach here for at least the latter part of the season.

A committee will be appointed to have charge of getting out new material for the crews. It was found at the meeting yesterday afternoon that the various statements given out by Jack Johnson and Tex Rickard, He declared there was no difference between the two promoters.

Asked where he thought the fight would be held, Jeffries said: "Governor Spry of Utah has declared he would not permit the fight to occur within that state under any circumstances. MANY NEW MANAGERS

Seven Big League Teams Under New Leaders This Year.

McGraw and Chance Will Have Hard Problems to Face.

Seven of the sixteen major league ball teams that will soon go South for spring training, will have new managers. It is a difficult matter to secure an expert team leader, but the National and American League club owners believe they have cornered the best in the profession. Some of these managers have already established themselves in the favor of the fans, and are confident of remaining at the helm for many years to come, but there are others who will find that the coming season will be a crucial test, and that unless they produce better results than a year ago, there may be a change in their berths.

There are three changes in the managerial ranks of the National League—the engagement of "Red Bill" Dahlen by the Brooklyn club, the appointment of Fred Lake by the Boston club, and the promotion of Charles Doolin by the Philadelphia club. Dahlen has never handled a ball team, but he is a former player, and has a world of experience on the field, and is believed to be an excellent judge of playing talent. Dahlen has played under several great generals. He broke into fast company as a member of the Chicago Colts, under Capt. Adrian C. Hansen, and became star shortstop and first baseman. After much experience in this role, he joined the Brooklyn club, under Fred Hanlon, and helped that team to win two pennants. Then he came to the Philadelphia club, where McGraw at the helm, and played such brilliant ball that his work enabled the New Yorks to win two championships and a world's series. Dahlen was finally traded to the Boston Nationals, with whom he continued to do good work until last season, when he became dissatisfied, and was released at the end of the season.

Asked where he thought the fight would be held, Jeffries said: "Governor Spry of Utah has declared he would not permit the fight to occur within that state under any circumstances. It is the fair opinion that it will not be held in Salt Lake City. However, as I know as much about the matter as I can, I can draw my own conclusions."

This was the statement made late today by Jack Johnson.

"I am not responsible for the attitude of Governor Spry," he added, "and I applied to him for a permit to cause the fight to be held in my native town. I have been offered any number of places, but I have selected this city as locations for my fight arena and the refusal of the committee to grant a permit will not interfere with my plans."

"I propose to live up to my agreement and Rickard is perfectly welcome to join me. But if he cannot obtain his present attitude I will take over the contract and hold the fight without his assistance. I am going to Portland Sunday to meet Jeffries and after conferring with him I will get into touch with Johnson with the object of definitely settling the question."

NEWS of the WEEK

AT THE LYCEUM

"The Man of the Hour" Will Return for Four Nights—Stock Company to Fill Out the Week.

Pelix Hancy, who plays Alderman Phelan in "The Man of the Hour," which will open an engagement of four nights, commencing Sunday, Jan. 30, with a matinee Wednesday, is by a majority of actors regarded as something of a freak, because he is willing to admit stage successes are due at least as much to authors and managers as to the players. Hancy was the original Al. H. Hoffer in "Way Down East," which William Brady launched back in 1896 and has a fund of good stories connected with his long association with that role. One of them concerns a young, good-looking and naturally talented actor who had been engaged for the role of Dave Bartlett, the hero. The young man had been in Hancy's words, "poisoned by daylight," that is he had been spoiled through having been successful in a long line of so-called "leading roles" in which he always had the center of the stage.

As Dave he insisted, in the big scene where Dave walks out of his father's house into the blizzard, following the girl he loves, on turning in the doorway and facing the audience, in order to make the spotlight just as the curtain fell. As Dave is supposed to be leaving the house in anger, such an attitude was entirely ridiculous. Mr. Brady reasoned the actor, who was obstinate, so did Joseph R. Grismore, co-author of "Way Down East" and Mr. Brady's assistant in producing "The Man of the Hour." But the actor was obstinate and his discipline was decided upon. Messrs. Brady and Grismore did not care to lose him, but they were hands of a different color. Besides he was turning discipline. So they let him go.

The actor to take his place was late in arriving, and Mr. Brady went on that night as Dave. The disheveled actor had bought a seat and sat in front, centrally, to see his successor in the role, and not knowing that Mr. Brady was to play the role in an emergency. When the big scene came, Mr. Brady delivered Dave's parting speech, and turning, walked out on that without even the appearance of hesitating on the threshold. He received eleven calls, the most the young actor had been given. The latter went back of the stage, hunted Mr. Brady up and said: "You're right. If you take me back I'll throw $25 a week of my salary, provided that you make up to me for it by letting me know by example at least once a month how often an actor can be when he gets the idea that he knows it all."

"LENA RIVERS."

Stock Company Will Present Dramatized Version of Popular Novel.

"Lena Rivers," which will be played at the Lyceum for three nights, and a matinee, commencing Thursday, Feb. 3, is one of the best productions that the Yankee Doodle Stock company has put out since its organization.

The story of "Lena Rivers," from which the play is taken, is one of the most widely popular novels of the day and has probably been read by more readers of fiction than any book with one or two exceptions, that has been published in the last decade.

The version used by the Yankee Doodle Stock company follows more closely than any of the others the situations and characterizations found in the novel, and for that reason ought to be doubly attractive.

of a Southern relative; it pictures the pitiful fight she is forced to make against the smugness of her aristocratic relations at her ignorance, her unsophisticated manner and her doubtful parentage. It is a tale of a good girl's plucky fight for the man she loves, of the treachery that separates her from him, and finally, of her complete triumph over her enemies and oppressors, her recovery of her birthright and the love of the man.

There are many dramas of deeper complications, but there are few that tell so prettily a beautiful story of real human beings.

Lyceum Notes.

An interesting event will be the appearance at the Lyceum shortly of that well known and popular singing comedian, Al. H. Wilson, who will present for the first time here his new and romantic picturesque drama, "Moss in Ireland." The play will be given with a strong cast of New York actors and an elaborate equipment of new scenery, costumes and electric effects. Mr. Wilson has composed several new songs for this play.

The exact location of White James is said to be capable and the production, elaborate and historically correct.

"The Great Divorce," William Vaughn Moody's masterful drama of Western life, while in London, where it has been presented with Henry Miller as "client," has been termed "the greatest American triumph." The distinguished actor-manager, Henry Miller, will present it in Duluth next month.

"Sweet Unmistaken" is the title Bernard Daly has given to his new Irish comedy-drama as his offering for public approval for the dramatic season of 1909-10. Instead of "Kerry Gow," and "Rory of the Hills," Mr. Daly sings a number of new songs of his own inspiration, besides some old favorites.

Miss May Robson, who will again be seen at the Lyceum this season as fortunate in securing for her first starring vehicle a comedy so interesting and unique as "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." It is the role of Aunt Mary that Miss Robson has a part that suits her perfectly.

"A Stubborn Jockey," which will play a return engagement at the Lyceum on Feb. 6, 7 and 8, is a musical comedy, a product of Chicago, where it holds the long run record.

The production offers Homer B. Mason, who heads the cast, many opportunities to show his ability. Miss Grace Kennicott has the role of a young woman whose life has been so protected that she is innocent of matters that are of common knowledge. Mr. Mason is seen as a lively young blade in a swift college town. Musically, Miss Kennicott as Cinderella is captivating, and Mr. Mason gets all that is possible out of the role of the rapid college youth. The chorus comprises sixty beautiful girls who can sing, act and dance. It requires a special train of three baggage cars, one coach and two sleepers to transport this organization. The company's stage crew alone comprises eight skilled stage mechanics, electricians and property men.

ent children on the stage. On the night will be one of the cleverest juvenile acts before the public, which is Parley and Farley, who are singers and dancers of much ability. The little girl is clever in the extreme. She has a beautiful voice and her songs are well selected, while the lad is a born genius in dancing. The act that is the extra added feature for the week will be Henry Keane and Olive Briscoe. In this, day when the word "farce" is so much abused and applied to all things of a noisy nature, one must avoid the word in speaking of the ability. "A Trial Marriage," which is to be presented by Mr. Keane and Miss Briscoe, is one of the highest types of literary farces. The situations are extremely funny and the execution is productive of the heartiest of laughs. The act has just concluded a very successful tour of the Eastern circuits.

max is productive of the heartiest of laughs. The act has just concluded a very successful tour of the Eastern circuits.

Earl Morse will sing his very new, illustrated song, entitled "The Jolly Molly," which is a dashing march song with beautiful colored slides to match. New and exclusive moving pictures will conclude one of the best bills of the season.

Matinees are given daily at 2:45 and night performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by either telephone. Performances are given Sunday afternoon and night.

A special school children's matinee will be given Saturday afternoon at 2:30, when all children under 14 years of age will be admitted for 5 cents.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

The Charm of "The Arcadians"—Willie Collier's New Piece Entertaining—Andrew Mack in "The Prince of Bohemia"—A Yiddish Drama

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—It became evident at an early stage in the musical development of "The Arcadians" that Lionel Monckton and Howard Talbot have learned a profitable lesson from the works of the Viennese composers, who threatened to displace them in the affection of the London theatergoers. The score of this piece is a great improvement on the thin, tinkling music with which their names, as well as Ivan Caryll's, were long connected. The music is of a higher grade, though eminently light, pleasing and popular.

In the cast are Frank Moulan, Connie Ediss, Julia Sanderson, Alan Mulle, Alfred Kappeler, and last, but not least, Percival Knight, an English low comedian, who made the hit of the piece as a lugubrious jockey who in twenty years' riding has never won a race.

The production is exquisitely picturesque. The first scene is a wooded landscape in Arcadia, peopled by a primitive, half-civilized, half-savage, half-chorus ladies in Greek costumes, who have never learned to tell a lie. Think of that. Into their midst comes James Smith, a bald-headed, vulgarly-clothed Londoner, who drops into Arcadia from the deck of an aeroplane. He is caught telling a lie, dipped into the well of truth and comes out a youthful Arcadian, as scantily clad as tastefully dressed as any convivial young Greek chaperon of poetic verses you may choose to name. With a disarming smile and the playful Chryseis by his side he returns to London, with the laudable ambition of converting that wicked metropolis by making everybody speak the truth.

His wife Maria doesn't know him, but thinks it a good thing to annex the Arcadians as an advertisement of an Arcadian restaurant, and after an act devoted to showing life at the Askwood race track, London, where the simple Arcadians make their first appearance, we are introduced to an extraordinarily beautiful scene, representing the restaurant, embellished with all the touches that make it resemble the true Arcadia, even to the well of truth.

This is another lovely picture, heightened by the Arcadian costumes worn by all the actresses including the jockey, who has found refuge here as a waiter. Smith is trapped telling an untruth, falls backward into the well, comes up with all his wrinkles and sparsity of hair of the first act, and the two Arcadian maidens return again to their native haunts without having improved the moral tone of London.

fast as hail stones, whereas the scene as the gray American youth who, in order to be in the society of Nell Van in the last act, which shows the motor boat in which Roland Starr and his friends have eluded the traitor Sir Alec McNairn, in the Lock of Veere, with a background of the quaint old town, a revolving Dutch windmill on the heights and the stars shining down from a typical North Sea sky. It forms one of the prettiest pictures one can possibly expect to see on any stage. And Collier is very, very funny.

Globe Ariz., Jan. 24.—The developments during the last few months at the Cactus mine have been of a most interesting nature. It is now well established that the Cactus property will, in the course of the coming year, be one of the proven mines in the Globe district, such as the Miami. Inspiration of this date has not, of course, definitely blocked out any other possibilities, but it is probable that developed by the more powerful companies in the district. The engineers who have made careful examination of the Cactus property, and who are of the opinion that there have never yet been fully appreciated the knowledge of the true value of the Cactus mine is due, no doubt, to the fact that the Cactus mine, in the Globe and the very conservative policy of the Globe district.

It has been determined, however, that the altered schist body, which in commercial quantities, extends from the Hamilton south, 1,200 feet east and 2,400 feet west. If it is permeated by the altered schist body carries copper throughout its entire extent, the value of the property will be increased.

Cactus property assumes a stupendous figure. The air, most of the work underground has been done on the 300 and 400-foot levels of the Hamilton shaft, and the work on the 200-foot level of the Hamilton shaft in the form of drifts and crosscuts.

The main drift from the Hamilton shaft have been driven east and west on the 200-foot level. The drifts are body into 200-foot blocks, with a crosscut every 100 feet. The 500-foot level has not been developed to the extent of the 200-foot level. The work on this level is slow on account of the ground being so hard. The drifts are made of timbers. However, the drifts on the 200-foot level are being driven west, are being continued on the 300 and 400-foot levels, about half of the work on the 200-foot level of the Hamilton shaft have been driven. As the Pinto is located on the 200-foot level of the Hamilton shaft, the 100-foot level of the latter shaft will strike the Pinto shaft near its 500-foot level. The Pinto shaft is located on the Hamilton and 31 feet above where the ore is located. The Pinto shaft is located on the Hamilton. Stations have been cut in the Pinto, where these drifts are expected to be cut.

A Sprained Ankle.
As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches in two or three days after spraining his ankle, and it is often two or three months before he is fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, as by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, a cure can be effected in less than one week's time, and in many cases within three days.

"Momsey, you're the most wondes

Momsey, and asked him if he'd be easy on us about the rent this month. I then explained my business scheme to him. And what do you think he said? Dad got into a comfortable chair, Momsey, for otherwise what I am about to tell you will take you off your feet. Dad and Patterson said for us to take our rent this month paying the rent. He said one week—er, if that was too bad, to make it less—wonder. So, you see, we can get the ten to sell the bargain. And—Momsey, let me tell you what I have made each month from selling pop nuts. He has made $20 clear—clear! Do you understand that? Not $20 sold—$20 but made that much clear! He's adding popcorn lately, you know. I get to make whole business, you see. And it won't interfere with my work either, but I will deliver the peanuts every noon to the officers and to the other prize-winning fellows. And I'll carry along my paper cups at the same time.

"Momsey, and asked him if he'd be easy on us about the rent this month. I then explained my business scheme to him, and he said, 'Well, if you can't pay it?'"

"I got into a comfortable chair, Momsey, for otherwise what I am about to tell you will turn out to be a very long story."

"Paterdon said for us to take our cut this month paying the rent. He said we could work—oh, if that was all—work—work—work. So, you see, we can get the ten to seal the bargain."

"And—Momsey, let me tell you what I have done each month from selling pop-cuts. He has made $20 clear—clear! Do you understand that? Not just $20 worth but made that much clear! For the first time lately, you know, I get to finish whole business, you see. And I would like to tell you that I have been able to deliver the peanuts every week to the customers and in the evening, when the customers leave, I'll carry along my paper bag at the same time."

"My mother in the world," declared Patsy.

"Oh, Patsy boy!" cried his happy mother. And she threw her arms about him. "You are a fine business manager. You are wonderful! And I'll take time from sewing to roast the peanuts and pop the corn for you. We'll be in business together!"

"Sure!" exclaimed Patsy proudly. "With me, old Monsey, as my business partner. I'll give you money. And some day when I'll have enough to rent a nice little stand on the corner where I'll stock my goods, you can be my partner. Then, Oh, our business will grow. I know it. People will call me Peonant Patsy, but I won't mind that. So long as we're doing good, we'll be the best business. Monsey, why do we care for idle people's acknowledgments? We'll be rich. We'll be famous. I'll put in the air, and gave three cheers for the future when Patsy and Monsey would be partners. And I'll be sure that Patsy should once more live on East street."

If the words pictured above are correctly guessed and written below another their initial letters will spell the name of a 12 animal march talked about at the capital season of the year.

Church and labor may co-operate because they both believe in the care

But with the possibilities come great responsibilities. If there is any place where Christians can be needed anywhere, God and man may rightly hold church and labor responsible if they are not enucleated. But what is the nature of this co-operation? It must be one of absolute unselfishness. The question is not what can we get out of such co-operation, but what can we give. It is not merely a question of wages for labor; it is not simply a matter of members for the church; but rather a question of service. We are happier because of this co-operation. Here is a program big enough for church and labor, both of their living and their dying. It is a program of working out those things for which they primarily exist.

Deadwood, S. D., Jan. 29.—Fourteen mine managements have declared that in future no union labor will be employed. The properties are the largest producers in the Hills and all are not shut down until sufficient non-union men can be secured. The managers announce that no cut in wages or increase in working hours is contemplated. "The

REAL ESTATE BUILDING NEWS

REAL ESTATE MARKET HAS A HEALTHY TONE

The Outlook for Spring Movement Is of the Brightest.

Activity in Acres Near City Shows No Sign of Abating.

Generally speaking, the real estate market is in a position today in which real estate men and investors are willing that it should be, in a position in which they expected six months ago it would be at this time, and in a position which will lead to great things during the coming spring and summer.

People are just beginning to stir themselves into activity in real estate circles. Comparatively few deals have been closed since the first of the year. The first month of the new year is always a dull one in the way of signing deals, for people do not do much in real estate during December, and January is given over to preliminaries to deals started.

The outlook from now on is rosy. There is not a real estate man along the street who will not say that the market today is the best Duluth has seen for a good many years. It is the best for the investor, the best for the speculator, the best for the home builder, and the best for the home owner. The only one who can find cause for complaint is the cautious soul who likes to see somebody else make money he could have made if he had had the very desirable quality of foresight.

There is very little activity at present and very little expected, in business property in the downtown district. People who own business property are not anxious to sell. There are those who know a good thing when they realize that there is only one superior street. They are not anxious to turn their holdings over for somebody else to realize the profits that must come in the next five, ten, or twenty years. The man who goes out to buy a piece of superior street property in the downtown district today must have a beautiful supply of cash, ability to drive a bargain, and willingness to allow the other fellow to anticipate the profits on the property for a few years as well as he can.

Leaving the business district out of consideration for this year except for a few deals, one must turn to the residence districts and the market is to center. In the more settled residence district, property is comparatively secure and owners are holding closely. But the prospective buyer does not have to search far to find a piece of property in any residence district he may select. No district in Duluth has reached that stage at which property cannot be purchased.

The movement in unplatted lands, which came on with little warning last year, shows no signs of abatement. Well located acres have a market at top prices, nor does that statement apply to acres in any one section. North of the hill, there is a vast expanse of territory that has been idle and almost forgotten for a good many years. Today a tract of land in that district will find a ready market. Some days, homes will extend back from the lake for a great distance and from that on to the city limits and beyond, there will be little farms of five, ten and twenty acres, market gardens and poultry farms—the little home industries that encircle every large city in this day of the "back to the soil" movement.

The people who are purchasing acres in that section at this time are anticipating the greatest of such movements in Duluth and when it comes they will be ready to realize handsome profits on the investments they are making today. The wise ones of the real estate world, the men who have foresight, are gathering to themselves all the acres their available cash will allow them to buy and are putting the deeds away for the times that are coming.

Out in the western part of the city, the announcement that the steel plant is surely coming has caused almost a boom in acres. People are not hysterical in their efforts to buy lands in that section, but the man who wants to sell any of his holdings does not have to look long or far for a purchaser who will pay him a price that will bring him handsome profits on the original investment. "Steel plant acres" are a decidedly live factor in the market at present and they will remain so for some time to come. On both sides of the river deals have been made during the past few months at prices that astonish the old timers, who in the old days could not have bought acres up the river for a snatch of a song. The stories must soon end, say they are from Missouri, but the wise men know the steel plant is surely coming and investments made in expectation of its advent are not made in vain.

There are many people who are frightened by the element of chance, real or imaginary. Who they can not find real chance they conjure one up, for they think that a person going into any market should be wary and who can be wary unless there is something for which to be wary? Those people refuse to see that the element of chance in the real estate market in Duluth today is infinitesimal. They will rush into the copper stock market and cheerfully pour hard earned dollars into the maw of the stock gambling dragon. But when they come to real estate investments they shy. They do not see that when they buy real estate they buy something that cannot be moved, stolen or carried away while they sleep. Real estate purchased one day in Duluth can be turned the next day into lots at iron ore.

Lots at iron ore are sharing in the activity which centers on acres in the vicinity of the steel plant site. It is understood, investors are paying good prices for lots in the suburb on the shore of the river, and those people who had faith enough in the district to hold their property through the less prosperous times are now reaping their reward. Lots in Iron ore were going begging for purchasers at a few dollars a few years ago. Today prospective purchasers are begging for them and few of the holders can be induced to turn over their titles, even for the liberal sums of glittering gold offered.

Interest is reviving in West end business property. Some transfers have been made on West Superior street at late at good prices. The agitation for the changing of the route of the Grand avenue street cars so they will run on Superior street to Twentieth or Twenty-first avenue west, is having a market effect on the market value of property on Superior street, between Sixteenth and Twenty-second avenues east. The cars he diverted from Third street to Superior street will mean much to property owners on West Superior street, and they are anxious that it be made.

Judge Stanton Sentences Two.
Duluth, Minn., Jan. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Stanton has sentenced John Kollinski to the St. Cloud reformatory for stealing an overcoat and pair of rubbers from the Challenge hotel, and sent Frank Williams to the Beltrami county jail for ninety days for stealing a dress suit case.

Two Hurt in Collision.
Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Two passengers were injured in a rear-end collision of two west bound Lake Shore trains at Ashtabula, O., early today. TRANSFERS OF THE WEEK

Four East End Residence Lots Sold for Over $12,000.

Many Sales of Cheaper Building Sites Are Reported.

The first big deal in East end residence property to be made in several weeks was closed this week when Bls. J. C. Coketran transferred to Mrs. M. J. Forbes, four lots on the southeast corner of Twenty-third avenue east and Third street. The property, which is unimproved, faces 200 feet on Third street. The deal does not name the consideration, but it is understood that it was in the neighborhood of $12,500. The deal was made through the office of P. J. Salter company, and they will not make public the exact price.

Like other deals made recently in East end residence property, this deal shows the wonderful appreciation in values in that district. Five or six years ago, the lots for which Mrs. Forbes paid a handsome price could have been purchased for about $500 a lot. Today, they are worth over six times as much and are really worth it, for desirable residence sites are scarce in that district and deals have been made recently at similar prices.

Most of the deals made this week have been in residence property, in which there is live interest. Dealers are holding out and it is hard to get property in some sections of the city. Many deals are in process of negotiation and the next few weeks will see considerable wholesale activity. Dealers report that there is a good demand for loans at prevailing rates of interest and money for localities on real estate mortgages is plentiful.

Stryker, Manley & Buck report the following sales made through their office:

A. C. Weiss to M. H. Potts, a lot 60x140 feet on the upper side of Fourth street, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth avenues east, $1,800.

The J. R. Carey estate to H. H. Harrison, a lot 50x140 feet on the upper side of Superior street, between Twentieth and Twenty-fourth avenues west, $2,250.

First National Bank of Mankato to M. A. Pearce, eighty acres of land in section 8, 30-14, on the Pike Lake road, $3,250. The purchaser was represented in the deal by R. P. Dowse & Co.

L. A. Larsen & Co. report the following sales:

W. H. Cole to Bror Wellberg and John Swanson, lot 4, block 5, Gay's division, $1,500.

ARE YOU PLANNING TO BUILD? HERE IS A HOME FOR A TWENTY-FIVE-FOOT LOT

ANTHONY PUCK - ARCHITECT

The above illustration suggests a practical and homelike plan for a home on a 25-foot lot. The treatment of the exterior design gives it a pleasing appearance. The rooms are large and arranged to get the best possible advantage of light and air. There is nothing

"cramped" anywhere in the plan. All rooms are conveniently accessible and well laid out for the arrangement of furniture. Constructing the house with large side gables makes it possible to plan a large, pleasant bedroom in the attic. Thus, with four sleeping rooms, bath room, living rooms and kitchen, all well lighted and roomy, such a plan could make a most practical, livable and pleasant home for a narrow lot. Built of frame construction, with oak and pine finish, maple floors, hot water heat and plumbing, a dwelling as above described is estimated to cost $4,800.

 ANTHONY PUCK, Architect, Duluth, Minnesota.

ARCHITECTS LOOK FOR BUSY BUILDING SEASON

Sketches Being Prepared for Many Buildings for This Year.
 Apartment Houses and Residences Form Bulk of Prospective Work.

Prospects are still holding the center of the stage in building circles. Little new work is coming out, but the architects report that there is a demand for sketches and they are not worrying about keeping their forces going during the spring and summer. They say that people are just making their decisions and in the next few weeks sketches will be accepted and they will be set to work making plans for the summer building work.

Rumors of another big office building for Superior street are still persistent, but they cannot be tied down to any definite location or any definite party. Architects who keep in close touch with the situation say the rumor is but a wild dream and that the Alway building, the new Fidelity building and other smaller structures which are already planned, will provide all the additional office room needed in Duluth for a year or so. If there is any thing to the rumors it is not believed the building will be constructed this year, for it would certainly not give proper returns on the investment at this time.

Apartment houses and residences form the bulk of the work being done by the architects at present. Apartment house building has been taken up generally by people with a few thousand dollars for investment as a safe venture and many new buildings of that class will go up in Duluth this year. The new family houses, the most popular and few of the larger buildings are planned. One large apartment house will be erected by the Massachusetts Realty company on Fourth street, it is said.

The people who build houses and sell them on easy payments say that they are planning for busy years. Ventures of that class are being taken up freely by salaried men, who cannot get the money together to build their own homes, but who find easy accommodations for their families in terms under which companies build and interest is paid for the balance.

CRIME WAVE IN NEW YORK UNCHECKED

Series of Murders Occurs Without Arrest of Any of the Criminals.

Inspector McCafferty Gives Special Orders to His Detectives.

Manufacturer's Death and Wounding of His Son Are Reported.

New York, Jan. 31.—The tide of crime with unapprehended perpetrators which has swept New York during the last month will be checked if determined measures by the police department heads will accomplish it. Today 200 detectives, after listening to a long discourse from Inspector McCafferty on the extraordinary situation created by eight murders within a month and little progress made in running down the criminals, started on a campaign to end the feeling of comparative security with which certain sections of the criminal classes seem to have become imbued. The climax was reached yesterday with the murder of Moses Goodman, a manufacturer, and the serious wounding of Goodman's son, Isaac, at their home in Manhattan.

MUCH IMPORTED FREE OF DUTIES

Statement Is Made on Action of Tariff Laws in This Country.

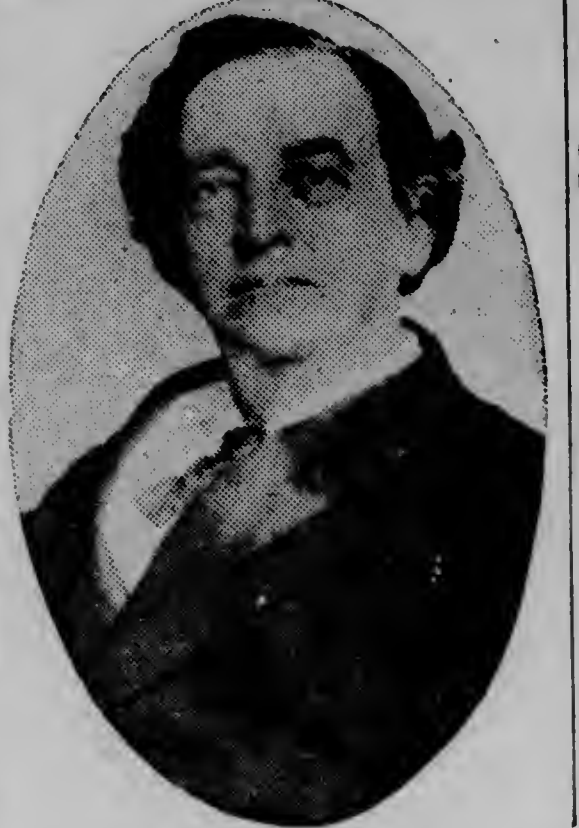

Washington, Jan. 31.—More than half of the merchandise imported under the new tariff law enters the United States free of duty. This was shown today by an official statement of imports since the new law went into effect, Aug. 6, 1909. In August the imports entering free amounted to 46.32 per cent; October, 50.61 per cent; November, 47.11 per cent; December, 55.34 per cent. The average for the five months was 51.5 per cent. Except for 1890, when sugar was admitted free, this is the largest average of imports free of duty than under any previous tariff law. The highest annual average of imports free of duty was in 1841, when the percentage was 54.9. The total value of merchandise entering free of duty reached $100,000,000 in 1873, passed the $200,000,000 mark in 1880, $300,000,000 in 1891, $400,000,000 in 1892, $500,000,000 in 1905, $600,000,000 in 1907, and in the calendar year ended was practically $700,000,000, the exact figure being $699,799,771. The principal articles in this total of non-dutiable imports for 1909 were hides and skins, hosiery, rubber, pig iron, raw silk, flax, cotton, copper, coffee, tea, cocoa, chemicals, art works and undressed furs.

Immigrants' Homes in Larger Cities Investigated By Commission.

Report on Findings Is Given to Congress—Cities Determine Sanitation.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The crowding of immigrants in the congested districts of large cities is much less prevalent than is popularly supposed, and common report of bad living conditions among such immigrants is much overdone, according to an exhaustive report upon immigrants in cities, transmitted to congress today by the immigration commission. The report which was prepared under the direction of E. A. Goldenweiser and makes a volume of approximately 600 pages, is based on a study of over 10,000 households in some of the congested districts of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Buffalo and Milwaukee. It shows that the population of congested districts is composed mostly of recent immigrants, one-third of the families canvassed having been in the United States less than five years and two-thirds less than ten years. In the cities covered it was found that there was an average of 134 persons per room.

PLAYS LAST JOKE UPON HIS HEIRS

Testator Sends Them on Wild Goose Hunt for Land He Wills to Them.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 31.—"Dead men tell no tales," but that they sometimes play practical jokes is attested by Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jones of Portland, Me., who have arrived here after a fruitless trip to Elkhart, Wash., to claim a real estate bequest to Mrs. Jones in her husband's will. They could find no trace of the property described. Mrs. Jones has learned that her brother, who was William Trathum, was a great practical joker. He died last June, leaving in his will two sisters parcels of land in widely separated regions. Mrs. Jones' brother bequeathed a tract in Florida, her sister a half section in Oregon. Christmas, directed the legatees to claim their lands without delay. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are waiting to hear from the "bonanzas" who have gone South to investigate bequests.

FINANCIER DYING IN CHARITY WARD

Man Who Planned Big Hotel Fatally Hurt By Short Fall.

New Orleans, Jan. 31.—Four days ago Lewis Tewksbury of New York proposed to promote the building of a $3,000,000 hotel in New Orleans. Today he lies in what is believed to be a dying condition as a charity patient in a local hospital. He fell from a boat-black stand here Friday and sustained a fractured skull. It is said that Tewksbury had a meteoric financial career in New York. Tewksbury is reported to have spent nearly $500,000 in New York in less than two months. He formerly was a druggist in New York. He won the case that he would go to New York to make his fortune. He engaged in the brokerage business. After marrying the widow of his former partner, he disappeared. His wife brought suit to recover $125,000 which she alleged he had misappropriated. He won the case. Tewksbury went from New York to Mexico. A few days ago he was in New Orleans and announced that he was planning to erect a hotel here.

BARE HORROR OF THE TOMB

State Inspectors Will Open Sealed Mine at Cherry, Ill.

Expectation Is That 130 Partly Mummified Bodies Will Be Found.

Cherry, Ill., Jan. 31.—"Get the bodies of the dead miners out as quickly as possible," was the request made today by W. W. Taylor, manager of the St. Paul Mining company, to the state mine inspectors under whose directions the St. Paul mine will be opened tomorrow. The shafts have been hermetically closed two months to smother the flames that have smoldered in the second level since Nov. 13. Owing to the failure of Helmetmen Williams and Webb of the University of Illinois to reach Cherry today, the cap will not be pried from the mine shaft until tomorrow. These men with oxygen helmets will enter the shaft as soon as it is opened. On their report of conditions will depend subsequent action. Will Avoid More Sacrifices. "We do not mean," added Mr. Taylor, (Continued on page 16, sixth column.)

WIFE GAGGED AND BOUND ON STOVE

Husband, Held for Crime, Is on Verge of Nervous Breakdown.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 31.—Jesse Van Zandt, who was arrested Saturday night, following the discovery of his wife's gagged, bound and roasting body upon a lighted gas stove in the kitchen of his home, is on the verge of a nervous breakdown. It is reported that the prisoner is feeling the strain of his position, and is on the verge of a nervous breakdown. Information has been received from Mrs. Van Zandt's father, G. F. Van Zandt, of Cape May, N. J., and her brother, Elmer Van Zandt, of Philadelphia. Information has been received from the authorities that the woman was known as "Mrs. Jesse A. De Long" to her Cape May friends. Several letters thus addressed were found in Van Zandt's home here. Whether this circumstance will add to the solution, remains to be determined.

Wanted to Marry Girl. The police attach considerable importance to the statement made to them by Agnes Berry, a 17-year-old girl who was sent to seclusion last week because of her relations with Van Zandt. She told the officers that Van Zandt had asked her to run away with him, adding: "He told me that he would get rid of his wife and then take me. But I refused." The girl's statement was made before she had been informed of Mrs. Van Zandt's death. She acknowledged, the police say, that she had been at 605 West Third street, which was raided by detectives yesterday. The six adults who turned there are being held as witnesses for the coroner's inquest over Mrs. Van Zandt.

CLUB WOMEN JOIN IN FIGHT

Postcard Campaign Against High Cost of Living Is Planned.

National Federation Will Be Asked to Help the Cause Along.

New York, Jan. 31.—Neither the anti-meet campaign nor the general crusade for a lowering of the high cost of living showed any signs of exhaustion today. A woman's mass meeting, postponed from Saturday because of the storm, is to be held this afternoon in Madison Square. Tuesday night meetings of club women will be held to help push the postal card campaign which the Gotham club has inaugurated under the direction of the president, Mrs. Anita Comfort Brooks. The cards are already in wide circulation, going to all parts of the country and making direct personal appeals upon the recipients to stop using meat. Preparations are under way, it was announced today, to have the Federation of Women's Clubs of America take up at its convention here on Friday next a concerted movement to ask every woman in the country to send a postcard to President Taft asking him to take measures against monopolistic control of meat prices. Quotations for food stuffs held about steady today. Retailers are showing a strong disposition to resist further cuts. Diminishing shipments are helping the dealers maintain this stand.

EXPECT TO AVERT STRIKE ON B. & O.

Garretson and Lee Go to Baltimore to Attend Wage Conference.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 31.—A committee of seventy, representing the 8,000 conductors and trainmen of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, were expected at the executive offices of the company today for the purpose of discussing wages. An increased wage was requested that the company be asked upon as a whole. This, it is said, made it impossible to grant any specific increase without granting all, and this swelling the operating expenses of the road 25 per cent. Subsequently, arrangements were made for further discussions and A. B. Garretson and W. G. Lee, grand masters of the Brotherhood of Trainmen and Conductors, have come here to assist in the negotiations. Mr. Garretson in newspaper interviews, declared today, there was not the remotest possibility of a strike. Speaking for both himself and Mr. Lee, he declared that they would go to the conference with every intention of settling the differences amicably, and that some compromise would be effected.

Image of St. Genevieve Borne Through Streets By Procession.

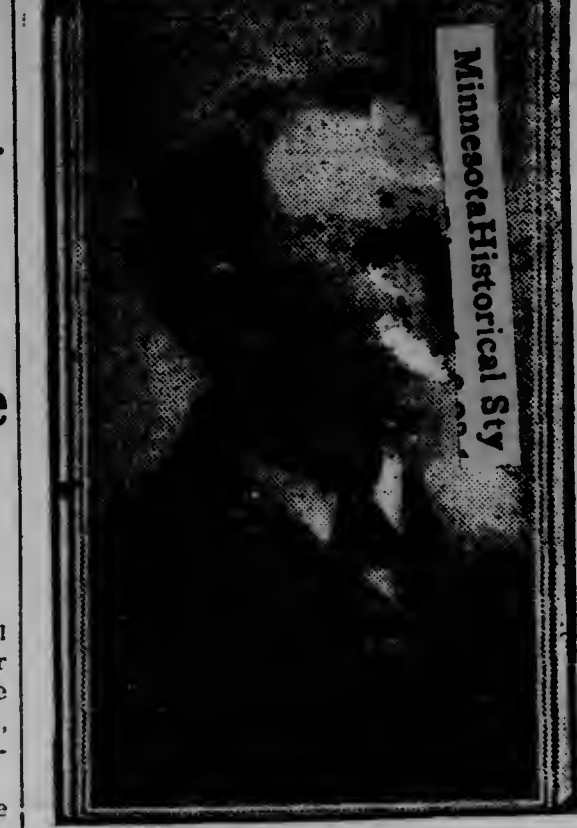

Paris, Jan. 31.—From midnight until noon today the subsidence of the river Seine amounted to only two feet. The weather, however, continued favorable, with a rising barometer. The temperature was slightly lower. The recession of the waters in some of the streets was noticeable during the forenoon. The situation at critical points was ameliorated to a considerable extent today, notably in the neighborhood of the St. Lazare station. The engineers now hope to be able within a few days to shore up the underground workings, and so prevent the collapse of streets and buildings, which has appeared imminent for several days. Beginning this morning, the authorities concentrated their efforts on the restoration of the crippled public services, and the re-establishment of the now demoralized railroad communication. There is no prospect of restoring the electric light and power systems this week. Preparations have been perfected for cleansing and disinfecting the city. President Roux of the Pasteur Institute, in conference with other experts, has decided upon a series of (Continued on page 16, fifth column.)

PITCHFORK BEN PUTS UP FIGHT

Senator Appears in Court in Effort to Keep His Grandchildren.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 31.—Senator B. R. Tillman and his son, B. R. Tillman, Jr., were present when the case of Mrs. B. R. Tillman, against Senator B. R. Tillman and his wife for the custody of the two children of young Mrs. Tillman was taken up by the supreme court here today. The case was also argued in court. Senator and Mrs. Tillman rest their case entirely on the statute law of South Carolina, in part as follows: "Section 1236.—The father of any child or children, under the age of 21 years and not married, shall possess of the custody and tuition of such child or children during such time as they remain under the age of 21 years, to any persons." Under this act, his son deeded the two children to Senator and Mrs. Tillman. Suggests Divorce Action. No effort has been made to assail the character of young Mrs. Tillman, but in his affidavit Senator Tillman says it is probable that young Mrs. Tillman would be placed under a step-father. "Thank God," said the senator, "there is no such thing as divorce in South Carolina."

Postal Savings Bank Bill Championed in Speech in Senate.

Opponents of Scheme Are Answered By Senator From Montana.

Washington, Jan. 31.—"The United States is the only first-class power in the world to deny the people the privileges and the blessings enjoyed by a postal savings bank," declared Senator Carter of Montana, speaking today in the senate on the bill to establish postal savings banks, favorably reported from the committee on post-offices and post roads. He spoke of the promises made in the last Republican platform, as well as in several other party platforms, of the support given to the measure by former President Roosevelt and by President Taft, as also by a number of the postmaster generals of the past forty years, and outlined the present bill. No Menace to Banking. Answering numerous objections which have been made against postal savings banks, Senator Carter asserted that they would not be a menace to the present banking system of the country; that the commercial banks, even if they were sufficiently numerous, could not reach the people in the rural and (Continued on page 16, 7th column.)

"If Clifford G. Norton, county attorney, this morning in reference to Clifford G. Roe's statement in a speech at the Y. M. C. "Mr. Roe says that if the government will pay the expenses of collecting evidence, he will furnish it," continued Mr. Norton. "I cannot tell him to go ahead and get his evidence and the county will stand the expense, for I have only a limited sum at my command for the collection of evidence during the whole year, and if Mr. Roe were given a free hand, he might call for any sum of money. Chicagoan May Serve One to Five Years Under Railway Conviction.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Edward McCann, former police inspector, who was convicted of accepting bribes, was sentenced to one to five years in the penitentiary by Judge Barnes in the criminal court today. The writ was passed on by the highest tribunal of the state. The writ was granted.

MUCH HORSE MEAT SOLD IN CHICAGO

State Food Inspector Says Equines Are Slaughtered Wholesale.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—In an official report to the Illinois state food commission State Inspector Hoy declares that horses are being slaughtered by the wholesale in Chicago and the meat is being sold and distributed for human consumption. The meat, he says, is being cut into roasts, steaks and sausages and is being sold to free lunch vendors in Chicago and to some farming districts and mining camps where foreign miners are employed. Heretofore, says the report, it was the general belief that all horse meat prepared in Chicago was for shipment to Copenhaegen, Denmark, and the fact that it is being put up for home consumption is looked upon as necessitating a new state law regulating the killing of horses. All the horse-killing establishments, it was reported, were small slaughter houses operated in obscure parts of the city.

FATE DRIVEN TO STRIKE TWICE

Dock Superintendent Survives First Coal Slide, But Dies in the Second.

New York, Jan. 31.—Although buried under many tons of anthracite coal, Nicholas Nedendock superintended the work of his rescue for six hours today, until 100 tons more of the coal was precipitated upon him and he was crushed and smothered to death. When Nedendock accidentally fell through a coal chute from an elevator on an East river pier he was buried under tons of the coal before the supply could be shut off. Policemen, firemen and dock workers labored at top speed during the six hours to shovel away the coal from him, conversing with him occasionally, and receiving directions as to where to direct their energies. The end came when the side of a coal bin collapsed and fully 100 tons of coal came down, killing Nedendock and burying him. The rescue workers were quickly dug out, but were badly hurt.

HIT BROTHER OF REAR ADMIRAL

Now Paymaster and Naval Surgeon Are on Carpet for the Affair.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 31.—On an old naval regulation regarding the treatment of citizens, and also on the well-known "conduct, unbecoming an officer" rule, Paymaster George F. Auld and Surgeon H. Robnett appeared before a court-martial at the navy yard today to answer charges of alleged attack on Dr. Edward S. Cowles of this city. Since a "duel" at the yard on Dec. 11 last, at which the alleged assault is said to have occurred, the two officers followed a voluntary interview with an order of the court-martial. Miss Dorothy Hester of Evanston, Ill., became involved in the controversy by a voluntary interview in which she stated that she was the innocent cause of the trouble. Asked Cowles to Leave. Dr. Cowles was at the dance as the guest of a naval surgeon. As he walked across the hall he was approached by Auld, who, as a member of the dance committee, ordered Dr. Cowles to leave the room. Dr. Cowles, it is alleged, refused to leave the room, stating that the latter's presence was not desired. This was followed by another incident outside the hall in which it is said that Auld struck Dr. Cowles and that Dr. Robnett stood by and not only refused to interfere, but appeared to support Auld in the attack on Dr. Cowles. Dr. Cowles is a brother of Rear Admiral Cowles, who is a brother-in-law of former President Roosevelt.

WEST END CHURCH IS DESTROYED

St. Clement's Catholic Edifice Guttered By Sunday Afternoon Fire.
Cause of Blaze Unknown--Congregation May Build New Church.

Fire of unknown origin practically destroyed the St. Clement's Catholic church late yesterday. The building was gutted and the flames did considerable damage to the interior furnishings. The loss is estimated at about $10,000.

The church is located on the south side of Third street between Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues west, and was one of the oldest in the West end. It was built in 1887 and was one of the pioneer Catholic churches of Duluth.

People living at the rear of the building on Second street discovered the blaze and the departments were notified. No. 1 and No. 2 responded and after two hours of fire fighting, the blaze was placed under control.

The blaze was most spectacular, for when the fire gained headway, it poured itself up through the roof, the smoke and flames shot up in the air for a remarkable distance. The smoke could be seen from almost any part of the city.

Street car traffic on the West Third street lines was tied up for some time until the fire was placed under control. The alarm was turned in at 6:12 p. m. when the blaze was first noticed. The building, it is understood, had been vacated about 4 o'clock after a meeting of the Sunday school had been held.

Rev. Augustine Brockmeyer, pastor of the church, stated today that all candle lights in the building had been put out and that there was no danger of fire from ordinary causes.

"The fire has somewhat spoiled our plans," said Father Brockmeyer, today. "It came about seven or eight years too soon. We have been planning on a handsome new building for the parish."

The following simple prescription will be found the most effective remedy obtainable for rheumatism, pains in the joints, lame back, and general debility. It will restore physical vigor.

"One ounce syrup of Sarsaparilla compound, one ounce Felt's compound, half pint of high grade whiskey. These to be mixed and used in doses of a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime."

Any druggist has these ingredients or will quickly get them, and they are easily mixed.

RE-ELECTION OF HAVEN URGED

Pastor Tells Congregation to Uphold Law Enforcement Platform.
The Rev. M. S. Rice and Watson S. Moore, pastor and Sunday school superintendent respectively of the First Methodist Episcopal church, did some effective campaigning yesterday for Mayor Haven.

Rev. Mr. Rice prefaced his evening sermon with the observation that the mayor's argument on the question of morality is valid and that he should be upheld by a majority vote tomorrow.

Mr. Moore spoke in the morning on the political situation. Mr. Moore is a Republican alderman from the First ward. He said that the only way to prevent the reopening of the so-called "red light" district is to give Mayor Haven another term. He also said B. F. Neff should be elected to the council from the fifth ward.

Rev. Mr. Rice was the only preacher who alluded to the election tomorrow, directly. "Sever" saloons in the uptown district is the observation that the members of their congregations to vote the way their consciences dictated.

CUYUNA ENJOYS A LIVELY BOOM

Mining and Other Developments on New Iron Range Going Ahead.

CROMWELL MOURNS DEATH.

Passing of Well-Known Carlton County Man Causes Regret.
Cromwell, Minn., Jan. 31.—(Special to The Herald).—The funeral of Samuel Elliott, one of Cromwell's honored citizens, which was held here Thursday last, was the largest in the town's history.

Mr. Elliott's death came as a severe shock to his relatives and friends in Carlton county. He was apparently in the best of health at the noonday meal, and was found dead in his barn two hours later by his wife, death being caused by paralysis of the heart.

The funeral service was read by Rev. Dr. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Duluth.

Mr. Elliott was born in Androta, Simpson county, Ont., forty-four years ago, where his sterling qualities won many friends. Besides his wife, Mr. Elliott leaves an aged mother, eight sisters and two brothers, all of whom reside in Canada.

BAD BAGLEY FIRE.

Several Thousand Dollars Damage Before Flames Are Checked.
Bagley, Minn., Jan. 31.—Excellent work by the fire department, aided by good pressure from the water works, checked a fire here Saturday morning that might have wiped out a good part of the town, but which did about $5,000 damage.

The fire destroyed $3,700 worth of merchandise, the two store buildings and the opera house of Bagley. The loss, valued at $5,000; insurance, 75 per cent.

There was damage by heat and water to the livery barn of August Bloomquist, the living rooms and furniture of Joseph Steindler, the busy restaurant belonging to Hans O. Wells and the front windows of Lukassen & Foss and the Clearwater County State bank.

Local druggists say the demand for these ingredients is increasing every day.

COMPLIMENT FOR POLICE

Committee Reports That Laws Are Being Enforced Here.
Conditions Are Much Better Here Than in Superior.

The moral condition of Duluth is far above that of Superior, according to a committee from the three Good Templar lodges and the Swedish Mission church of the West end, which visited the two cities Friday and Saturday nights for the purpose of making a comparison. This was the mysterious committee mentioned in The Herald Saturday.

The Duluth red light district was found to be practically dead, while across the bay they saw scores of searlet women and big crowds of men, most of the latter being so young as to attract particular notice. In the so-called "better" saloons in the uptown district in Superior they found men entertaining women in the wine rooms. Their report says that Duluth was clean in this respect, and also that the closing order is observed at 11 o'clock. The report of the committee is as follows:

"Friday night, Jan. 28, 1910, we made a very thorough investigation of the red light district of Duluth, and although we were most diligent in our search for evidence to the effect that searlet women were as plentiful as before, we were able to gain admission to but one house of ill fame, and found therein three women. They were terribly frightened for fear of going to the coop, as they expressed themselves. We tried to gain admission to at least a dozen other places of the same character, and either found them vacated or else had the doors shut in our faces, and told that there is nothing doing."

"We also made a systematic search of the saloons, to ascertain if women of questionable character were kept there for immoral purposes; but although we were most diligent in our search in this respect, visiting the lower as well as the better class of saloons, we were unable to find a single instance of such conditions prevailing."

"After closing hours, we made a search for evidence to strengthen our belief to the effect that the 11 o'clock closing law was not strictly observed, but in this we were also disappointed, most effectively, as we could not, although it was only a few minutes after 11, when we commenced this line of investigation, find one open saloon, all the way from Second avenue east to Twenty-first avenue west, on Superior street. We also kept our eyes open for minors in saloons, but found none."

"In order to be able to compare conditions more intelligently, and to see for ourselves the advantage of Duluth in this respect, as well as its shortcomings over Superior, we went across the bay Saturday evening, Jan. 29, 1910, and made rounds of the red light district and saloons in a manner similar to the rounds we made in Duluth. To say that we found that conditions are not to be compared in the least is wholly true. In a half-hour canvass of the red light district we saw from 100 to 150 prostitutes in probably ten or fifteen houses. Conditions in this respect were most deplorable. There searlet women even went so far as to come out on the sidewalk to entice us."

"We also found numerous young girls in these places. In making a round of the saloons, we found in many places women entertaining men in the back rooms, especially did we find this true of the more 'well' uptown saloons. We also found that closing laws were not as rigidly adhered to as in Duluth, as several saloons were found open after hours. An after-midnight round of the red light district was also made, and we found there congregated dozens of men coming and going from and to these places and the most of them were young men. Several seemed hardly over 18."

"We have no hesitation after making these observations, in saying that as bad, or nearly so, or that Duluth is as bad as Superior, are unqualified and rank lies; lies as black and unscrupulous as the man or faction cares to make such statements."

"Our chief of police and his force are to be congratulated upon their faithfulness and success in carrying out the written order of Mayor Haven bearing date Dec. 22, 1908, in regard to the closing of the red light district, and also another similar order of date, March 8, 1908, in regard to the observance of the state law in regard to the closing of saloons."

WARRANT FOR EHR.

Carlton County Farmer Would Prosecute Ex-County Treasurer.
Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 31.—(Special to The Herald).—Ex-County Treasurer Peter W. Ehr, of Carlton county, who left here last year for the state of Washington to try and recoup his fortune lost in unfortunate investments, may be tried for embezzlement of county funds. It was short, it stated, about $7,000 in his accounts with the county when he resigned and his bondsmen made good the shortage, declining not to prosecute him.

Recently Lorenz Bender, a farmer living near Pine Grove, filed a complaint with the state attorney, and asked that a warrant be issued for the arrest of the former treasurer. Mr. Ehr was given notice that he would have to answer on a charge of embezzlement, and he sent word voluntarily, if transportation were sent him, as he could not spare the money at present. Sheriff Lee left for the West to bring him back.

The remarkable record in the matter of municipal improvement established by the city of Grand Forks during the year of 1909, it appears, will be duplicated during the coming year, as plans have already matured whereby the expenditure of large sums of money will be made necessary.

In the matter of paving its streets, the city proposes to take an especially big step. Plans have already been approved by the council for the repaving of 115,600 square yards, and the bids are now being called for on this amount of work. The estimated cost of the paving work is $250,000, but with several smaller jobs that are yet to be planned, the total may reach $275,000.

This amount of work is divided into six contracts, the largest of which will be for 25,000 square yards, and the smallest for 8,700 square yards. One of the most important pieces of work will be on University avenue, by which a connection over paved streets will be formed between the city and the university.

AGE OF EXTRAVAGANCE, SAYS PACKER'S AGENT

People Can Live Cheaply and Eat Meat, James
Young Asserts.

"Keeping Up Appearance Is Most Expensive Item,"
He Says.

Following up his statement published in last Friday's Herald that the price of meat would not be permanently affected by the present agitation, James Young, manager of the Cudahy Packing company here, gave another statement to The Herald today in which he explains that the high cost of living is due largely to poor methods of buying, and giving what he claims is a solution of the problem.

Mr. Young states that one typographical error crept into his statement last evening and that he stated that there were 200 packers in the country instead of twenty, as he was quoted as saying.

His statement is an interesting one to Duluth people who are worrying over the cost of living, although many may disagree with him. It is as follows:

I said last night that I would call attention to some of the every day extravagances which are unnecessary and if eliminated would go far toward reducing the strain on our pocketbooks which are being so taxed of late years by increased cost of living.

"In the first place when the cost of living is mentioned, and people wax eloquent in voicing their fangled wrongs, the first thing that is attacked is the grocery, meat and milk bills. The table is the point on which he vents his spleen as though that was all there is to the cost of living. After that due rent, fuel, light, water, clothes, etc., are considered. These items are just as much a part of the cost as what we eat. But after all have been considered we usually cannot see where we can cut any of it down and live in comfort, having what we all consider the world owes us, if we work for it, a living!

"Right here lies the core of our trouble. Does the most expensive living really mean the best living? Does not the hardy working person, who creates an appetite by muscular work, enjoy a meal more than the pampered individual with more money than he knows what to do with, who has seen everything there is to eat, and who is willing to try anything for a novelty or diversion? That class of people don't eat because they are hungry. They do it because it's time to eat. Another thing I dare say is that the average man spends foolishly or for luxury every cent almost as much real money as lots of laboring people in other countries earn, and this must be included in your cost of living.

"If a man's family, growing up around him, begins to cost him more, he fights the increase for all he is worth, because he knows that his fixed expense increase, not because he is stingy or a bad fellow at heart, for this same man will meet a friend and invite him to a treat, spending 25 or

50 cents, and is glad of the opportunity. But when a man has this habit, it is just as much a fixed expense as your rent, if you only knew it; but the figures are not set down as a certain amount a month. Keeping up appearances is the most expensive item in the cost of living.

Women Don't Go to Market.
On a salary of $100 a month, you cannot rent a $10 six-room flat, heated, with janitor service, pay for electric light, gas for cooking, water, etc., have a woman come in to do the washing, a telephone in the house, hot and cold water, and be within ten minutes' walking distance from your work. You cannot do it. If you want sirloin or porterhouse steak, chops, rib roasts, poultry and eggs every day the year around, and hot-house green stuff in winter, you must be telephoning the order for meat and groceries, and her query will be, what have you got that's good today? She will not make up her mind what she wants, because she is afraid to ask. Women are getting into this habit and they don't go to market any more with a basket, and in consequence the economical foods, about all they go to market for now is to see what is new on the market, for a change, not to see how cheaply they can buy.

It is this class of people who have made the demand on chops and steaks of the market. It is something to cook quickly they want, and that is why the cuts are considered choice.

In the home of the laboring man who earns $12 to $15 a week, there is not one-tenth the complaint on the cost of living as there is from the so-called middle class. This man knows how to live. His income is so small that he cannot even make a pretense of appearances if he devotes himself to living as well as he can on as little money as possible.

There is an awful waste of fuel. I have seen houses where they have furnace heat with the furnace turned on, the gas stove going with something cooking and the lady ironing with an electric iron. Can you bear it for waste? It is nice, clean and handy, but see, it's expensive.

Cheap Meats Good Food.
"Now as to her expense. You see advertised plate beef or rib boiling, 5 to 10 cents per pound. The upper end of this can be used as short ends of beef, baked with brown potatoes or dressing. Fine boiling meat may also be served with mashed turnips, horseradish or other vegetables. Any of this is particularly good for beefsteaks. Two pounds of it will feed four people with all they can eat. Not an expensive meal is it and mighty wholesome. Pot roast sells for 10 cents a pound. Served with tomato or Spanish sauce, it is delicious and two pounds is plenty for four people. Mutton, steer and veal stew sells for 8 to 10 cents. Any of this stew meat can be boiled, then baked and made into a meat pie. If you prefer dumplings, this is particularly a good way to serve the meat, but the muttons are better in a straight stew with vegetables.

Corried beef sells at around 10 cents per pound, and cooked with cabbage is a fine dish for four people and sometimes enough left for corned beef hash. Remember that every time you boil meat the broth is first-class soup, to which can be added barley, peas, rice or light vegetables, and the occasion and remember that soup is healthful and cheap. Do not waste any of the forcible tale of the price of meat because, ground up with potatoes and moistened bread it makes fine hash and hash is wholesome and cheap. Pork chops and shoulders are 10 and 12 cents and are fine boiled with cabbage or sauerkraut. Shoulder steak of beef sells at 11 and 13 cents and is good steak. Round steaks, 15 cents can be made especially good if put in a bakepan and covered with sliced raw potatoes, onions and turnips, then baked in the oven. No matter how tough the steak when it comes out it comes out tender. Serve it with the vegetables on. A good big piece of pork cost can be served hot, then sliced cold, and the remainder baked. Rib roast at 15 and 20 cents is cheaper than pork.

"You will see from these items that it is possible to live pretty cheap and eat meat also, if you want to. Stay away from high-priced steaks, they're not economical and if you buy chickens, buy hens and boil them. Spring chickens and broilers are delinquencies and are not economical. When butter is around 10 cents a pound, bread with molasses on it is the feed for children and they like it better than butter. What's the use of kicking about eggs at 40 cents a dozen in the winter? When I was a boy we didn't have any eggs in the winter time unless we had chickens and some hen forgot herself. You can live cheaply if you want, but you have got to do your own janitor work.

"I am afraid that many of our women get up their meals on the spur of the moment, and in consequence of this important problem a study, with a view of placing on the table something attractive and inexpensive while she will fuss all week trying to decide what to buy for fear butter prices would be affected. Unfortunately the scientists handed their new product one of those names that none of us can understand and they don't intend we should, 'oleomargarine'! Doesn't that sound like poison? It does to me. In plain language good oleomargarine or butterine is nothing more than rendered beef fat and pork fat, mixed with a proper consistency and then churned in milk or cream. That's all there is to it. It is just as wholesome and clean as any butter. There are no chemicals or acids in it, as the name would indicate. That is simply the scientific name for the product and no one is responsible for its name. Many of you have never tried this even for cooking. Why is it? Were you ashamed to ask for a substitute for butter or were you afraid of the name? You don't have to go back to the farm to live. All you need is to come down to earth and don't try what you cannot afford. We can live within our means, and have meat on our menu if we have the kind we can afford and not offend them as we can afford.

BORN IN KOCCHICHING.
Only One Native Born Homesteader in Northern County.
International Falls, Minn., Jan. 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Kocchiching county is said to contain one homesteader who was born within the confines of the county, he being a son of Henry Metcalf, the pioneer who has for the past twenty-five years or more made his home on Black River, a short distance above its mouth. This fact tells a fine tale of the primitiveness of this region, or rather the impossibility, which prevailed up to three years ago, when the railroad first penetrated to the northern border of the county.

That white slave traffic exists in Minnesota, that immoral women in resorts in the state are recruited largely from the ranks of white slaves and that if the government will pay the expense he will secure evidence of the truth of his charges, were the startling statements made by Clifford G. Roe, former assistant state's attorney of Chicago, in his address to men at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Roe's statement was called out by the report of Joseph Freeman, representative of the United States white slave commission, published about a week ago, to the effect that no white slavery exists in Minnesota and that the inmates of resorts are recruited from women who take up the life from choice.

While he was in the state's attorney's office at Chicago, Mr. Roe made a study of white slavery and all its intricacies. He secured the evidence in 300 cases against people engaged in the nefarious traffic and when he resigned his position, he went out through the country, well supplied with facts and figures with which to educate the public to the enormity of the ulcer which attacks American home life.

No Step Backward.
Mr. Roe spoke to a large audience at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. He did not mince matters. He pointed out to the men that the duty of Duluth is to adhere rigidly to the lines laid out a year ago when the "red light district" was closed. He urged men at the coming municipal election who would not take one step backward in dealing with evil.

"Re-establish that district of shame," he said, "and you make of this city a mecca for panders and procurers from Chicago, New York and St. Louis. They will come here because they are being driven gradually from their strongholds in those cities, their territory of immorality being slowly restricted, and by the instinct of self-preservation they are turning to other fields to ply their nefarious trade."

"I tell you that as surely as you citizens of Duluth allow a red light district here, this will be the inevitable result. You expose your women and your homes, the most precious things you have, to the most heinous evil. To contact with the great crime of the age."

"But Duluth will not do it. She is not going to recede one step from the stand she has taken, along with Des Moines and other cities in the vanguard of this crusade against vice. Forces of right are not going to retreat an inch from the ground they have won. This is my prophecy."

Mr. Roe gave some of his experience in dealing with the white slave traffic. He said the procurers prey

He secured the evidence in 300 cases against people engaged in the nefarious traffic and when he resigned his position, he went out through the country, well supplied with facts and figures with which to educate the public to the enormity of the ulcer which attacks American home life.

No Step Backward.
Mr. Roe spoke to a large audience at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. He did not mince matters. He pointed out to the men that the duty of Duluth is to adhere rigidly to the lines laid out a year ago when the "red light district" was closed. He urged men at the coming municipal election who would not take one step backward in dealing with evil.

"Re-establish that district of shame," he said, "and you make of this city a mecca for panders and procurers from Chicago, New York and St. Louis. They will come here because they are being driven gradually from their strongholds in those cities, their territory of immorality being slowly restricted, and by the instinct of self-preservation they are turning to other fields to ply their nefarious trade."

"I tell you that as surely as you citizens of Duluth allow a red light district here, this will be the inevitable result. You expose your women and your homes, the most precious things you have, to the most heinous evil. To contact with the great crime of the age."

"But Duluth will not do it. She is not going to recede one step from the stand she has taken, along with Des Moines and other cities in the vanguard of this crusade against vice. Forces of right are not going to retreat an inch from the ground they have won. This is my prophecy."

Mr. Roe gave some of his experience in dealing with the white slave traffic. He said the procurers prey tion in 1911, the semi-centennial of Keweenaw's creation as a separate county, and it will be made the occasion of a "home-coming."

The celebration will center at the Eagle River hotel, a hostelry which is much the oldest in the Lake Superior region, and which has entertained such distinguished guests as the late President James A. Garfield in 1883, who at the time was engaged in recruiting soldiers for the Union armies. It was here too, if not in the ancient hotel itself, that Justus H. Rathbone formulated the ideas which afterward resulted in the organization by him of the Knights of Pythias fraternal order. Keweenaw county, once the center of the Lake Superior copper mining industry and now undergoing a remarkable rejuvenation, was created in 1881, its name being derived from the Indian word, Ki-wi-wai-non-ing, meaning "portage."

The funeral was that of Leonard Hanson, the 2-year-old son of John L. Hanson of 615 Ninth avenue east. After the funeral, the carriages were returning from the cemetery in line. The horses which ran away were fifth in line. They became frightened at a baby carriage, which was being pushed along Woodland avenue and they bolted. With the first jump of the horses, the wheels of the carriage went into a rut in the road and the driver was thrown from his seat. One of the doors flew open and was wrenched from its hinges. Without their driver, the horses continued down the grade. The four drivers ahead heard the approaching horses and hastened their speed to avoid a clash. On Fifth street, they were not injured and the frightened horses continued on their way.

After Mrs. Clause and her daughter jumped, the three Hanson girls remained in the carriage as the horses ran along Fourth street. At Nineteenth avenue and Fourth street, the carriage turned into that, the thick underbrush hitting their mad flight. The occupants of the other carriages hurried to the spot and took the three girls from the carriage. They were not injured and quickly recovered from the shock.

The horses are owned by the Board of Trade Livery company, and while they were a spirited team, they were not thought dangerous.

Miss Mabel Clause was slightly injured and Mrs. Olaf Clause and Misses Ruth, Mabel and Gunda Hanson were badly shaken up Saturday afternoon, when the horses attached to the carriage in which they were riding on their return from a funeral at Park Hill cemetery, ran away on Woodland avenue.

Time to Work out the Food Problem

The wide spread "shriek" about high prices for meat will induce people to plan meals with more reason and better judgment of food strength and cost.

Many of our strong men, College Athletes and others, learned from actual experience that a vegetarian diet produced better results than a diet including meat.

Many famous names appear in the vegetarian list. Names whose owners are champions and prize winners in their chosen field of athletics.

After all the argument for and against any particular kind of diet, the question can best be solved for the individual by personal experiment.

Resigns From the Committee Investigating Ballinger-Pinchot Affair.

McLachlan of California Explains His Part in Coal Claims.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Senator Paynter of Kentucky, pleading illness, resigned today from the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee. His place has been offered by the minority leader to half a dozen senators, but none so far has accepted.

Explaining his connection with Alaskan coal claims as brought out in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation, Representative McLaughlin of California today mentioned Governor Gillett and Representative Knowland and McKinnley of California as being interested in the proposition with himself and Representative Kinkaid of Nebraska and a number of others.

McLachlan declared that the proposition was entirely a legal and ethical one. A dozen or more men of prominence were interested in what was known as the Green group, he said. He did not recall the names of all of his associates. Speaking of the Green claims, McLachlan said:

"There has been any violation of law in this matter, I am not aware of. I went into the proposition two or three years ago at the solicitation of Mr. Green and have paid out, as far as I know, about $10,000 in surveying and developing my claim."

"The land was taken up in the ordinary manner of filing a mineral claim. In the beginning I purchased the right of the original entryman, and I do not know anything about the manner in which his filing was made. If there was anything wrong with it, I do not remember the name of the man from whom I bought the filing right."

"I have not yet applied for a patent from the government. I have been busy with the development work. We have found coal on the land, but I do not know how much. A magazine article that I published says my claim is worth $1,500,000, but I can get my $1,000 out of it I shall be glad. In fact, I would sell out for less than the amount I put in."

"The law in the army and navy can have all the coal it wants from our claims at a price to be fixed by the government. Our claims are sold to a trust or monopoly, the whole property rests in the hands of the government."

"Not more than 100 acres can be held by one person and that is the amount of my claim. The law provides also that the claimant must develop the claim. The group represented by Governor Gillett and Representative McKinnley, Knowland and Gillett and myself, are the California coal claims. Referring to Alaska coal lands, Glavis in his testimony Saturday made statements that the representatives of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation, McLachlan of California and Kinkaid of Nebraska, had been in the company of their friends. It was declared they would not permit to pass without challenge. It was predicted that Glavis would be subjected to a hot fire of questions and would be humiliated."

After being commissioner of the land office, Mr. Ballinger, now secretary of the interior, acted as attorney for Mr. Glavis against the California coal claims. Mr. McLachlan, Glavis testified that he had suggested that the investigation against the California coal claims be not pursued, as there had been a change of heart of that sort of thing in the past."

WANTED TO JOIN IN CAMPAIGN

"Alderman Phelan" Came Too Late to Take Part in Fight.

Felix Haney, better known as Alderman Phelan of "The Man of the Hour" company, is renewing acquaintances in Duluth. The city took Alderman Phelan to its heart on his first visit here, and each succeeding year with the return of the company, he is welcomed as an old friend. The party seems to be a mutual feeling between Duluth and Mr. Phelan.

"There is something in the hustle and bustle of your city that appeals to me, and I have been anxious to get here ever since we left San Francisco," he said today. "I had expected to take a little more time in your city election and had promised several friends to speak in several of the wards, but our route having been changed, we are here a week later than had been originally planned."

"We've had a very successful season and I am San Francisco when we played there during the heat of the majority campaign, the theater could not hold the crowds. 'The Man of the Hour' grows on the people and I believe the play will continue for many years."

TOKIO PLANS TO CUT ITS INTEREST

Will Issue New Loan to Take Up Outstanding 5 Per Cent Bonds.

Tokio, Jan. 31.—It was authoritatively stated today that the cabinet had decided to issue a 4 per cent domestic loan of $50,000,000 redeeming outstanding 5 per cent bonds to a like amount. The issue price is to be 95.

The government proposes to convert gradually other domestic loans until all have been placed upon a 4 per cent basis. The reason for this action is officially given as being the steady increase in the value of the government bonds.

The advance is attributed to a consistent policy of preserving peace and to the adjustment of the national finances as well as the cause of the case of the Japanese money market. The bankers of Tokyo and Osaka have agreed to the government's conversion plan.

PRISONERS

Prisoners at the county jail, who were indicted by the grand jury at Virginia last week, were arraigned on the indictments before Judge Ensign in district court this afternoon. They will appear tomorrow afternoon.

Agabito Fuciereilli is charged with murder in the first degree, and John Makela is charged with burglary in the first degree for breaking into a Great Northern car at Virginia last week with the intention of stealing articles from it.

Ensign is charged with assault in the second degree. He is accused of attacking and beating a white cattle at the Elba location in the town of Missabe Mountain. Clara Myers are charged with adultery committed at Buena Vista.

Edward Simms is accused of carrying a dangerous weapon.

Friends finally came to his assistance, but then Schenck was called by his wife and for a few moments a battle is said to have taken place. Schenck pleaded not guilty, arraigned this morning in municipal court. He claimed that he strangled his wife in self-defense. His case continues.

Nick Schommer of Billings park arrested this morning to answer charge of assault brought by Gallagher, who claims that Schommer "saute" him, following a dance, Friday night at Billings park.

The fight is said to have started when Schommer made a remark concerning a woman with whom Gallagher was dancing. When the comment came to the ears of Gallagher he took exception to it and made an attack on the warder.

As a result of the fracas, Gallagher came out with three teeth missing and a badly bruised face. Gallagher
